Our business model is that of a distributor of semiconductors and other electronic components, plus we provide comprehensive, value-added services. We source a large percentage of electronic components from major accredited manufacturers and distribute their products to both overseas and the Australian markets. In addition, we have in Sydney our own purpose-built manufacturing cable assembly and testing facility. We also partner with electronic contract manufacturers for our turnkey assemblies.

THE RISKS OF MODERN SLAVERY PRACTICES IN THE OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAINS OF BRAEMAC.

In preparation of this statement, we have considered the risks linked to Modern Slavery practices, in accordance with the Australian Government's Modern Slavery Act 2018. The majority of our supplies are sourced from tier 1, large multinational corporations who have already taken the necessary actions to minimize the risk of Modern Slavery throughout their supply chain. They have implemented different corporate social responsibility policies, human rights policies, and modern slavery policies throughout their supply chains.

In addition, the Modern Slavery risks associated with supplies produced locally through local sub- contractors remain low, as ANZ human rights and labour policies are well set up and implemented throughout ANZ businesses. There are strict statutory laws in place which ensure that all entities are in compliance with these policies.

The above highlights that Modern Slavery risks for Braemac remain very low in light of the profile of our suppliers.

STATEMENT

MODERN SLAVERY

The major risk for Braemac is in the alternative components supply chain (referred to as tier 2), where they produce specific made-to-design components. These tier 2 entities may source components from other, yet smaller companies that produce specialized components.

ACTIONS TAKEN TO ADDRESS THE MODERN SLAVERY RISKS BY BRAEMAC.

We are committed to ensuring that there is no Modern Slavery in our supply chains or in any part of our business. We are also committed in implementing and enforcing effective and robust systems and controls to ensure slavery is not taking place anywhere in our supply chain.

Below is a summary of the measures that Braemac has undertaken:

- Implementation our first Anti-Modern Slavery policy.
- Staff training on the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth).
- Auditing of key suppliers via a targeted questionnaire.
- Inclusion of Modern Slavery in our Purchase Terms and Conditions
- Trade Review of new suppliers at the time of onboarding for their Modern Slavery compliance.

ASSESSMENT AND EFFECTIVENESS OF OUR ACTIONS

Our Modern Slavery due diligence incorporates both internal and external assessments to regularly review our processes.

- We have implemented a Risk Assessment Register to record all kinds of risks in our supply chain. This ensures periodic review of risk and allows visibility by our management team. Braemac's procurement personnel are trained to conduct and review Modern Slavery risks associated with our suppliers and to report any nonconformance.
- We engage external auditors to undertake a review of our processes and actions, including the assessment of our suppliers.
- As an added process, Braemac provides a whistle-blowing facility for both suppliers and staff to raise any concerns.

Currently we have not found any Modern Slavery related incidents within our company or within suppliers we have utilized in the past 12 months.

STATEMENT MODERN SLAVERY

THE PROCESS OF CONSULTATION WITH ENTITIES THAT ARE PART OF BRAEMAC

Braemac Pty Ltd manages and purchases electronic components on behalf of its subsidiary and other operating entities in Braemac. This reduces the amount of consultation required between the entities.

OUR FUTURE COMMITMENTS

Over the next year, our key goals would be to:

- Ensure adequate training to staff on Modern Slavery guidelines.
- Continue with the assessment of our suppliers on Modern Slavery.
- Encourage suppliers who are non-reporting to make their own Modern Slavery commitment.
- Review and update our risk related policies and governance control measures.
